Filibustering Expedition is Being Fitted Out in Alabama—An Allegation That the Revolutionaries Have Plenty of Money and Are Gaining Ground Daily—The Alliance Incident.

Key West, Fla., April 6.—Reports from Havana indicate that an uneasy feeling prevails in official circles of that city owing to occurrences near by. Last night, it is believed, an attempt was made by rebel sympathizers to blow up the St. John powder magazine, part of the Fortress Cabana, almost in the shadow of Castillo del Moro, and within sight of the governor's palace, across the harbor. Shortly after 2 o'clock the outpost pickets about the powder magazine heard or saw a party of about fifteen approaching cautiously. The pickets shouted the "Alto, quieten vive." This was answered by a volley of shots. Soldiers from the fortress pursued the party, which fled. Another effort was made early this morning. Over 500 troops have arrived in the last two days to resist the expected uprising in the province. The troops recently encountered on the mountain Pinar del Rio, hitherto believed to be quiet, are a band of men called bandits by the government. In all probability they were members of the revolutionary party, but details of these skirmishes have not been received. In one night this week thirteen persons were arrested and confined at Castillo del Moro, though no cause has yet been assigned for their arrest. Information received from insurgent sources is to the effect that Maceo landed in Baracoa on March 27. Floro Crombie, the comrade of Maceo, on that day wrote a relative in Havana of his arrival. The government announced only last Wednesday that $4,000 will be the price paid by General Maceo to the owners of vessels to land the party and a quantity of arms which they have. It is believed that Maximino Gomez has not yet landed in Cuba. The authorities fear Maceo and Gomez more than any of the leaders. Neither the government authorities nor English officials will say anything regarding the firing on the steamer Itzehoe.

Insurgents Hopeful.
Tampa, Fla., April 6.—Senors Figueredo, Quesada, and Dominguez returned from Jacksonville this morning accompanied by Mr. Benjamin Guerr, the treasurer of the revolutionary party. They are profuse in their thanks to the citizens of Jacksonville for the reception tendered them and the many courtesies extended. They were highly pleased with the meeting in that city and pronounce it one of the best they ever held. The dispatches from Madrid admitting the presence of a band of 700 insurgents is a source of much joy among the Cubans today. They feel assured that the movement is progressing rapidly. The report that the steamer Pedro Pablo is here has no foundation whatever. The only boat that would answer her description is the government guarantee steamer Germ, which is being prepared for duty at the Mulla Key station.

HAD HIS FACE CUT.

An unknown man entered Smith's drug store this morning at an early hour and asked for relief. He had a terrible cut down the side of his face which he had been in a fight. The other man hit him with a cane. The identity of his assailant is unknown. The injured one will carry the marks of the encounter as long as he lives, the nature of the wound being such that it will not heal readily.

THE CONCERT.

An Immense Audience at the Tabernacle Last Night.

The concert given at the tabernacle last evening for the joint benefit of the Almy sufferers and the choir's music fund attracted an immense audience, one that comfortably filled both the body of the great hall and the gallery. The programme was a varied one, and showed the wisdom of the managers in selecting numbers that would please all classes of patrons. Before the concert began, Conductor Stephens made a brief address, after which the opening hymn, "And the Glory of the Lord," from Handel's Messiah, was given by the choir, with Professor Daynes at the organ.

The duet, "Summer," a composition by Professor Daynes, was rendered most artistically by Mrs. Lizzie Thomas-Edward and Mrs. Agnes Olsen-Thomas. The ladies won an enthusiastic encore.

Master Charlie Pike, the boy soprano whose wonderful voice has not been frequently heard, captured the audience with his rendition of "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," and for an encore gave the ever popular "Alice, Where Art Thou."

"Springtime," a composition by Professor Daynes, was then given by the choir.

Miss Maude May Babcock recited the famous "Charlotte" from Ben Hur, and proved again that she is a mistress of the elocutionist's art. She too, was recalled and gave "The Apple Core."

Later in the evening the lady recited "How Ruby Played" and was again forced to respond to an encore giving the humorous selection "A Similar Case."

Professor Stephens' "Return of the Victors" was rendered by Professor Daynes on the organ.

The Harmony Glee club made the great hit of the evening. "The Bridge" was exquisitely sung, and in response to a tumultuous encore, a negro melody was given, Thomas Ashworth singing "How Ruby Played" and was again forced to respond to an encore giving the humorous selection "A Similar Case."

THEY ARE AT OUTS.

SQUIRES AND CANNON HAVE SOME FEELING TO BE SETTLED.

The Opposition to Suffrage Hopes Something Will Come From the Agitation—The Next Fight in the Convention on Bounty.

If the long debate on woman suffrage did nothing else it brought into the convention bitter feelings which are likely to be aroused again on any question which may come up for debate. This is particularly so of the Republican side, though, of course, the action of Roberts and the few other Democrats who voted with a majority of the Republicans for a separate article, could not fail to bring up some sharp words. However, if feelings are intense on the Democratic side they are much more so on the Republican side. Before the debate Colonel Squires and George M. Cannon seemed as harmonious as two little lambs gamboling on the green. They worked together to carry out the will of the Republican caucus and were a good nucleus for a mutual admiration society.

When Squires was laid astray, however, and came to believe the separate submission of woman suffrage was imperative, trouble was brewing. He tried to lead his cohort, Cannon, astray. But Cannon declined to be led. What is more he stiffened up the backbone of one or two other Republicans who did not seem sufficiently averse to being led astray. But he rapped the climax when he criticized Squires very severely for his attitude. This Squires resented at the time and, having been shut out, intends to resent in the future.

But this is not the only feud. The Republicans are now "split wide open"—the majority of them are more than ready to fight. They have stood staunchly by the Democratic platform. An effort is being made to get them to support a separate article. The hope of success, unless caucus rule can again become dominant.

The opposition does not appear to believe the woman suffrage fight is over. The leaders of the separate article agitation are being urged to continue and make such a demonstration as will show the people demand this. They have been consulting as to future plans and there is some disposition to make another fight for recommitment on Monday. It is true the motion to re-commit was killed on Friday and the section was passed, but it is held by some that when the third reading of the whole article is finished it will be in order to move to re-commit and this will be the way to secure their desires by a majority vote.

The minority members are working like beavers. They are endeavoring to influence every member who stands a chance of being influenced. It is true they are able to see a majority in sight, their commitment motion may again be brought into requisition. There seems to be, however, no desire to filibuster. That desire has been disclaimed from the first. If no majority is apparent the minority will await developments. They rely on the promise of Thurman that reconsideration will be had should the separate article movement develop the projected strength.

Washington, April 6.—Secretary Smith today sent a letter to the attorney-general requesting that suit be instituted against the Southern Pacific to secure title to the United States order issued to the trustee of the Los Angeles, Cal. district. A similar recommendation is made regarding the Atlantic & Pacific company in the Harrison, Ark. district.

Created a Breeze.

Chicago, April 6.—Some days ago the steamboat lines plying between Puget Sound points and San Francisco and Portland, announced reduction in their second-class rates to $2. The Northern Pacific stirred up a breeze among its rivals by intimating that it was its intention to use these rates for basting purposes from the east. The matter was referred to Chairman Caldwell and he today made a ruling to the effect that in the agreement the western lines, neither the Northern Pacific or any other line has the right to individual action in such cases. The use of steamboat rates as a basis for the cause terminating in the declaration must be by the common consent of all lines interested. It is understood that the Northern Pacific will accept the ruling and ignore the steamboat rates if the Great Northern will do the same.

Too Slow

in making clothes, this was. It had to go. And yet people thought it a pretty good thing in its day. Some of them couldn't believe, all at once, that there was anything better. Just so with every improvement. The old way always has some benighted ones who cling to it to the last.

Too Fast

in ruining clothes, un-making them—that's the trouble with the washboard. But it's going now and going fast, to join the spinning-wheel. Women find it doesn't pay to rub their clothes to pieces over it. They can wash better with Pearline. Less work, less wear, no ruinous rub, rub, rub. That's the modern way of washing—safe, easy, quick, cheap. No wonder that many women have thrown away the washboard.

Send it Back

Feddies and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." It's FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back.
